

Adam Sherer drives verification software and hardware sales in the Eastern North America region. His 27 years of experience in verification and software engineering also includes roles in product management, applications engineering, standards development, and R&D. Adam received his MS EE from the University of Rochester, with research published in the IEEE Transactions on CAD. His BS EE and BA CS were received from SUNY Buffalo. He also holds a 2017 patent in verification technology.